RenOVatiON

WORKSHEET

BROUGHT TO YOU BY SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S PREFERRED DESIGN FIRM

Let us help you acquire some much needed clarity.

Do I have a budget that I need to stay within? (Pick one)

YES / NO

Why am I renovating my kitchen? (Pick one)

- a) It's purely aesthetic
- b) To improve its function
- b) To increase home value

What am I specifically looking for? (Circle all that apply)

- a) To re-organize the elements in the floorplan
- b) To expand or reduce the square footage of the floorplan
- c) To replace outdated cabinetry
- d) To replace outdated appliances
- e) To change the flooring
- f) Any excuse for granite countertops
- g) I just want something different

Am I looking to expand my floor plan, reduce it, or leave it as is? (Pick one)

- a) Expand
- b) Reduce
- c) As is

Keep in mind that where your cabinetry is situated can always be altered but consider whether the square footage of your kitchen, the size of it in general, is an issue presently.

What are some things I am NOT willing to compromise on?

When you dream of the perfect kitchen, what do you see? You can't possibly be fixated on everything (unless you're a chef and know that the devil is in the details). Is it the cabinetry style, the cabinet colors, is the countertop, etc. This is where you consider your MUST haves.

Am I willing to spread out my kitchen renovation in phases, over a certain period of time, OR do I want all the changes completed within one expected time-frame? (Pick one)

This is the biggie.

- a) I am willing to spread out my kitchen renovation in phases
- b) I want it all taken care of in one shot

If your previous answer was "in one shot" the following applies to you:

Can I accept the reality that while my kitchen is being renovated over the course of 4 to 6 weeks (more or less, depending), that I will need to make other arrangements for preparing breakfast, lunch and dinner? (Pick one)

YES / NO

You can be honest, the only person seeing this is yourself. Honesty will at least allow you to work on finding a way to get around the challenges that a renovation brings.

When am I looking to begin the planning and design process of the kitchen renovation? (Pick one)

- a) ASAP
- b) Within the month
- c) Within the next 3 months
- d) Within the next 6 months

Who will be undertaking the kitchen renovation? (Pick one)

- a) Myself
- b) My spouse
- c) A friend
- d) A home professional

ALL RIGHT, NICELY DONE!

We hope that this has helped to organize your thoughts a bit on the matter. Don't worry, if you're still feeling indecisive about how to begin or what to do next. Knowing that you did this worksheet ahead of time will allow you to make some important decisions going forward. And don't forget, we're here to help should any questions arise.
